Equity market review

During the month of July 2008, the Indian stock market witnessed high volatility on account of high inflation of 11.98%, political uncertainty, absence of buying by Foreign Institutional Investors, renewed concerns of further monetary tightening by RBI and resultant slow down in GDP growth. However, during the later part of the month the market recovered sharply due to survival of UPA Govt, better than expected good corporate results and the falling crude oil prices. The UPA's win during the trust vote has raised prospects of fast-track economic reforms like hike in FDI limit in the insurance sector, banking sector reforms, allowing private sector entry into pension fund management and divestment in PSUs, etc.

During the month, FIIs were net sellers to the tune of 1,836.80 crores, while domestic mutual funds were net buyers to the tune of Rs.1,412.20 crores. The BSE Sensex closed higher by 553.53 points or 4.01% and S&P CNX Nifty by 196.30 points or 4.75%.

The crude oil prices touched an all time high of $147 per barrel before moving downwards to the current level of $125 per barrel. Inflation remains major concern for equity market across the globe. Inspite of the Government taking continous fiscal and administrative measures, the inflation has not yet come under control.

IIP growth numbers announced for May, 2008 at 3.8% was much below the expectations. Further, IIP growth for April, 2008 has been scaled down by 80 bps to 6.2%. Manufacturing, the key component of industry, grew only by 3.9% in May, 2008. The high base of May, 2007 could be partially responsible for the figure clocked.

RBI, while announcing its Credit Policy in July, 2008, has raised the repo rate by 50 bps to 9% and CRR by 25 bps to 9% with immediate effective from 30th August, 2008. The bank and reverse repo rates have been left unchanged at 6%. The effective spread between reverse repos and repos rates has now widened to 300 bps. RBI has intensified its hawkish stance on inflation management and has reigned heavy with demand side measures of rate tightening. RBI has revised India's GDP growth downwards in FY09 from 8-8.5% to 8%. The policy action would aim to bring down the current level of inflation to a level of 5% as soon as possible and around 3% over the medium term.

Having said that the picture is as gloomy as it can get, one needs to note that a slow growth in India is also as high as 7% plus (this compared to peak growth of 2-3 % for developed nations). The fusion of favorable demographics (leading to domestic consumption), non-existent infrastructure (sustained huge infrastructure spend) and abundant human resource (outsourcing), will make sure that India will be able to sustain such strong growth for longer periods and thus will continue to attract global and local investors in the longer term.

Prospects for investors in Indian equity markets continue to remain robust, albeit with volatility. The best way to fight inflation is to invest in the Equity market. However, investors should be disciplined, and invest regularly to benefit from short term volatility and long term growth of Indian equity markets.

Debt market review

RBI in its Monetary Policy on 29th July2008, has announced a dual rate hike, increasing reporate by 50 bps to 9.00% effective immediately and increase of 25 bps in CRR to 9.00% effective 30th August, 2008. This was in response to inflation touching a decade high of 11.98% for the week ended July 19th 2008.

In the last four months, RBI has hiked the CRR by 150 bps and the reporate by 125 bps.

The RBI is trying to curb inflation, which continues unabated due to rising fuel and commodity prices. Of the Wholesale Price Index, fuel currently accounts for 14.2%, agricultural commodities 15.4% and metals 8.3%.

Primary reasons for a rate hike were:

- Strong growth witnessed recently which has increased credit off-take, which is much ahead than the anticipated growth rate of 20% for FY09.
- Money supply growth at 23.8%, which is much higher than RBI comfort level of 17%.

Negative impact -

- These measures will raise interest rates by 75-125bps. This should slow down demand and credit growth to 18-20%.
- Since high interest rates are exponentially negative for the debt market, the 10 year GOI benchmark yield could hover between 8.75% to 9.50%.
- Though the RBI in its statement has said that investment demand is strong and consumption is reviving, there appears to be clear signs that the consumption slowdown has been seen since the last year has spilt over to the investment side. Thus there could be a slower GDP growth for FYO9 at 7% to 7.7% versus 9% in FYO8.
- AAA corporate borrowing cost will go up sharply. Their alternative window, the ECB base is already reeling under a credit crunch.
- Highly leverage companies will have tough time. There will be further fall in bottom line growth rate immediately and sales growth with a time lag.

Positive impact -

- The RBI's aggressive stance will cool off demand and better anchor inflationary expectations.
- Inflation is expected to be stabilised to 7% levels from the current 11.98%.
